Sue Woolfe

President's Message

I'm deeply honoured to have been asked to be President of this august society for women, going since 1925! I am very lucky to step into the shoes of your previous highly accomplished president and I have inherited her excellent, hard-working committee.

Like many of you, my whole life has been about reading and writing. I'm a fiction writer of both published novels and short stories (and some unpublished ones), occasionally a non-fiction writer - about writing and more recently, creativity and neuroscience, I'm occasionally a playwright for the professional stage, and once upon a time, a film-maker and script writer. With other authors, I've been struggling for four years to bring to life a website for established authors to ePublish, and sell books - so I'm no longer the luddite I was. My personal website is: www.suewoolfe.com.au

Like many of you, I enjoyed our July events hugely (Cat Sparks, Susanne Gervay and Alana Valentine), and am looking forward to our August events, with Jill B Bruce (Non Fiction Writing), Lisa Shanahan (Children's Picture Books) and our own Dr Maria Hill (researching the Anzacs in Salonika).

I hope to meet you then. Please come and say hello to me.

Guest Speaker Presentation

Workshop Presentation

Telling the Truth: Non Fiction Writing

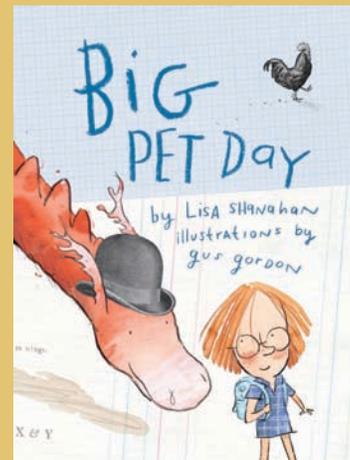

Jill B Bruce

Jill B Bruce, a former teacher librarian for 27 years, has published 73 books for children on Australian life. Her latest titles are Australian Seashore and Explorers of Inland Australia.

In 2012-13, Jill was a judge for the Children's Book Council of Australia awards and last year was honoured with The CBCA NSW Lady Cutler Award for services to children's literature.

In her workshop, Jill will focus on finding the 'true' facts and writing them in an imaginative and interesting way. Jill says, 'writers of fiction can let their imaginations run wild BUT non-fiction writing involves facts.'

She will show us where and how to research and challenge participants with a writing exercise. Jill's vibrant books both educate and entertain children. Sharing her knowledge should provide a fun workshop.

Dragons, Pirates, Bears and Chooks: The Magic of Picture Books

Lisa Shanahan

So where do wonderful ideas for picture books come from? And what really makes them work?

Lisa Shanahan will celebrate all things picture book, including how they grow from first tiny seed to final story.

Lisa is an award-winning writer of picture books and fiction for young people. Some of her well-loved picture books include Gordon's got a Snookie, Bear and Chook, Daddy's Having a Horse, My Mum Tarzan and the junior novels Sweetie May and Sweetie May Overboard.

Her first novel for teenagers, My Big Birkett, was published to critical acclaim both in Australia, where it was short-listed for the CBCA Book of the Year for Older Readers and in the United States, where it was included in the New York Public Library Best Books for the Teen Age list.

Her picture book Bear and Chook by the Sea, illustrated by Emma Quay, won the CBCA Book of the Year for Early Childhood in 2010.

Her most recent books include Big Pet Day, illustrated by Gus Gordon.

Member Talk

Researching the Anzacs in Salonika in deepest, darkest Macedonia: 1915-1918

Dr Maria Hill

Dr Maria Hill is a professional historian with expertise in military history, particularly the Greek and Crete campaigns of 1941.

She has an Honours, Masters and PhD in History from the University of New South Wales. Her book, Diggers and Greeks: The Australian Campaigns in Greece and Crete was shortlisted in 2010 for the Queensland Premier's Literary Awards. She is the author of an award winning history teaching publication, Federation: Inclusion and Exclusion that earned her a Commonwealth Centenary Medal for her contribution to education.

Formerly, a visiting fellow at ADFA, a judge of the NSW Premier's History Prize, Guest Speaker and Workshop presenter at the Brisbane Writers Festival, Managing Editor of the Journal of Policing, Intelligence and Counter Terrorism at Macquarie University and President of the Society of Women Writers NSW.

Currently she is conducting research for a new book on the Anzacs in Salonika 1915-1918.

Di Yerbury Award Winner Felicity Pulman checks in from Barnstaple, UK.

I'm now ensconced in Di Yerbury's comfortable flat in Devon after five wonderful weeks with Mike travelling through northern France, London and Yorkshire. There were plenty of research opportunities along the way including the fabulous Mont St Michel, Paris, Angers and Poitiers in France then on to England to investigate the Tower of London, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament plus visits to abbeys and castles in Yorkshire with special significance for the Plantagenets, especially Richard III. Mike stayed in Barnstaple with me for a few days and I was glad of his help, particularly when it came to going online! We spent our time exploring historic Barnstaple and its beautiful coastal surrounds, and I'm now feeling 'at home.'

The work is going well - touch wood! I'm in a routine now: I write in the mornings and afternoons with a break for lunch and a long walk to clear my head, and also let the ideas flow. I've had one MAJOR disaster where I lost 2 days work (4000 words) but I've written myself over that hump now, and I've found a new site on which to save the manuscript. I'm not sure when this year's applications for the residency are due but if I can help with questions or anything else, please email me: felicity@felicitypulman.com.au.

Let me add that this is such a wonderful opportunity and is proving to be such a productive time for me, so do give it a go, and good luck!

BTW I'm now blogging about my research journey and what I'm writing about, so if you're interested, do check out my blog and join me on my journey:
