95th Anniversary

Jean Kittson to be Keynote Speaker

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

What a challenging time it is for all of us and one that is likely to remain so for the foreseeable future. How quickly we can think differently and adapt to new ways of doing things. When we last came together to enjoy our March literary luncheon who could have foretold that our meetings would be suspended till July and possibly for the rest of the year.

While the opportunity to meet face to face has closed temporarily, other exciting opportunities present themselves. Via the magic of Zoom and free of charge for this month, your May Keynote Speaker, Jan Latta, and Member Newsbites can be received directly into your home. Libby Hathorn will also Zoom a May Workshop. Full details on how to book for these May events are on page 2. Subsequent events will each incur a nominal charge of $10 for members and $15 for non members.

Under the banner Isolated Thoughts, you are invited to submit original stories and/or poems. Bridget McKern fuelled the idea by sending us her poem Covid 19 Contemplation – see page 4.

Submissions to Leaping into the Future, an anthology, and the Members' Book Awards are now open. If you're ready - submit now – don't leave your entries till the last minute—see page 5.

The Annual General Meeting will be held on 8 August 2020 with the possibility it may be virtual. Despite this extraordinary time in our history, and as the Society heads towards its centenary, it needs to plan for a dynamic future. Please consider joining the committee. Nominations for 2020-2021 are now open and the form can be found on page 6, or downloaded from the website <https://womenwritersnsw.org/>. Please note that, due to the Covid-19 health risks, forms must be emailed and not returned via the GPO box.

I wish to thank Decima Wraxall for her invaluable contribution to the 2019-2020 committee and wish her well for the future. While Decima has resigned from the committee for personal reasons, she will continue to proofread both the eNewsletter and Women's Ink!

Your committee has continued to work during this time of enormous change brought about by the coronavirus and I thank them for their dedication. The interests of all members is our priority and I trust you will find something within these pages to inspire your writing.

You are the storyteller of your own life, and you can create your own legend, or not. Isabel Allende

I hope that everyone is taking the best care of themselves in these unusual times and I wish you well.

COVID 19 CONTEMPLATIONBRIDGET MCKERN

The world is slowing down
 Can you feel it?
 Like a Tai Chi walker
 We are being asked to move
 Slowly.... quietly
 Deliberating
 Each step in balance with the next
 And the next....and the nextand the next

The Chinese word for CRISIS is the same word for OPPORTUNITY

Now is the time for us to notice,
 See things differently
 Re-calibrate the crazy pace of cluttered chaos
 Move aside from the maelstrom of madness
 Turn it around
 Live differently

Every aspect of human life is being turned upside down
 The earth is burning out the dross
 Greed and false power can no longer rule
 They have had their day

Now we have time
 To notice a bee landing on a dandelion

Smile at a passer by
 Keeping our respectful distance

Distancing does not need to be less kindness
 But as we learn to stand back from things
 The heart space opens up
 To see each other's needs
 To notice things that make a difference
 To acquire new ways of being in the world

At last!

This is the gift of deep inner knowing
 That we all have available.

This is our true vocation
 To be Carers – not Conquerors

Society of Women Writers NSW 95th Anniversary Anthology Call for Submissions

Leaping into the Future: protecting our wildlife through story

To celebrate The SWW NSW 95th anniversary, we have an exciting writing project that looks outward and forward, not back.

It is an education project targeted to children, to raise awareness of climate change and its effects on our environment, celebrate our unique animals, and support our natural landscape.

Blinky Bill, Dot and the Kangaroo, Snugglypot and Cuddlepie, The Muddle-headed Wombat; Edward the Emu; Koala Lu; Diary of Wombat; Uhu and many more. . . so many books in the canon of Australia Literature celebrate our unique flora and fauna.

Are you worried that your children and grandchildren may know koalas, platypus and wombats (and many others) only as storybook characters, never seeing one in real life?

Recent bushfire damage to the environment has pushed our wildlife to the brink of extinction. It is time to protect our precious Australian flora and fauna, sources of inspiration for so many classic Australian children's stories.

Call for submissions:

- SWWNSW members are invited to submit stories, information articles and poems written for children to be included in an anthology
- Suggested topics/themes: Australian native creatures of all kinds; native landscapes; climate change; weather; bushfire, flood, cyclones; human and natural resilience; marine environment and reefs; forests and trees . . .
- Stories and articles up to 1,000 words
- Poems up to 30 lines
- Previously published work on the theme may be submitted
- There is no payment for work accepted, no contributor copies and no fee to submit
- One-off rights are requested: copyright remains with the creator
- Electronic submissions to leapingintothefuture@gmail.com
- Submit with full name of author and story title in a Word doc 12 pt. Times New Roman, stories/poems should be double-spaced, poems single-paced

Submission deadline: 31st May 2020

Invited guests may also be asked to contribute. A separate call for stories and illustrations by children will follow.

Target audience: primary school and early high school children, 8-12 yrs.

Copies of the anthology will be donated to fire-affected primary schools and sold to other readers. All proceeds from sales of the anthology to be donated to wildlife conservation.

Please join in this effort to celebrate and preserve Australia's unique wildlife!

Surviving Covid-19

DECIMA WRAXALL

To keep body and soul in harmony at this stressful time, I tap into the creative process. Write. Hone. Write. Two 40,000 word Historical Fiction novels are in progress. These stories are informed by determination, perseverance, friendship, loss and survival. A leitmotiv throughout are challenges for an RN [Registered Nurse], caring for the frail and elderly. My regrets at missing weekend family time. The difficulties faced at my old home. D.I.Y. for a woman. Interviewing Estate Agents to find the best. Driven away from Stacey Street by the pollution and thunder of a major road. Caring for elderly father. Sharing the joy of births in the UK. Holidays in the NT, France, Spain, Ireland... The exhilaration and difficulties of a new home. Grief at my father's death. Relationship ups and downs. The problems of short-staffing and mountains of paper-work at the NH. Literary success at last.

I'm doing a Masterclass by Billy Collins, former poet Laureate, at MasterClass.Com. Creating and re-writing lots of poems in the light of new insights. And I've been Longlisted in their Flash Fiction Memoir competition with RENDEZVOUS. One of my works has also been selected by Ginninderra Press for their Poems of Dissent Anthology.

Skimming the Surface

JAN CONWAY

Skimming the Surface, my account of the two years I spent with my family on the atoll of Tarawa, Kiribati, is being prepared for printing and expected in my hands by early June. This is my first book and as a self-publisher, I'm keen to feel and smell it as a real book. Hoping we're on the other side of the current pandemic, I plan to officially launch my story into the wide world on 5 December 2020; forty-one years to the day after we set off on our odyssey.

Island life was not without its challenges but as our family adapted to the reality of living remotely, we discovered a new way of observing the world around us – sometimes raw and confronting, at others so beautiful it took our breath away, like the time we watched a fairy tern leave the casuarina tree in our yard to fledge pure white against a lapis sky. The I-Kiribati welcomed us, we made lifelong friendships and developed a high regard for these island people and their culture.

In Skimming the Surface, I invite you to join me and my family on our journey as we discover another way of living.

Mentoring for writing and editing

Carolyn Beaumont

A mentor is a supporter of writers but never a dictator.

With quiet encouragement and gentle suggestion, a mentor can assist a writer to complete a poem, short story, novel, play, family history or biography.

A mentor can assist with mental blocks. There are solutions.

A mentor can discuss characters, dialogues, plots, settings and themes.

A mentor can be a sounding wall for a writer to bounce off ideas, sentence structures, chapter sequences, legal and ethical issues.

The corporate or self-publishing processes require manuscripts to be thoroughly edited and then proofread at printing stage.

A mentor can offer an objective view of structural balance and a fresh eye online (or copy) editing of the text.

A mentor can advise on communications between authors and publishers/printers and discuss changes that may be advised.

A mentor can guide an author through the proofreading stage to final publication.

An effective mentor knows that the final decision must always be the author's decision.

Please contact me via the Society of Women Writers NSW Inc website for more information, fees and bookings. Please use the Contact Form at <https://womenwritersnsw.org/contact/>
