CO-PRESIDENTS' MESSAGE

Hello and welcome to the October edition of the SWW eNewsletter. Since taking over from Gwen Bitti, we have been busy establishing our new roles and would like to thank everyone who has assisted us during this transition phase.

We acknowledge and congratulate two members who have taken up vital roles left vacant after the Annual General Meeting – Kylie Day as Vice President and Rita Shaw as Secretary.

After 32 years as a member of the Society, Jo Fisher has reluctantly decided she is unable to attend our monthly literary luncheons. Jo has been a constant at our lunches, sharing her knowledge and friendship. She will be missed and we wish her well.

Another stalwart, Joy Williams has passed the photography baton to Rita Shaw and Meg Dunn who will share that role. Our sincere thanks go to Joy for all the great photos and memories she has captured over many years.

There was a spring vibe at our September literary luncheon.

Writing Emotion, Robyn McWilliam's workshop was well attended. From all accounts it was an energetic and informative session.

Susan Steggall's latest novel, 'tis the doing, not the deed was so fresh from the press that she hadn't seen her finished book until publisher, Cath Brinkley arrived. Susan went on to give a lively talk about her story spanning two countries and almost a century.

With images, Ceridwen Dovey's insights and stories of Pompeii captured our imaginations. Ceridwen spoke of Pompeii's influence on writers, artists, anthropologists and on the writing of her latest book In the Garden of the Fugitives.

We look forward to seeing you at the October literary luncheon when we'll welcome Cathy Perkins, Editor of the State Library of NSW as Keynote speaker, Member speaker, Susan Ramage and Workshop presenter, Manisha Amin.

A reminder to book now for the evening workshop with Meenakshi Bharat on 23 October at The Women's Club. An event not to be missed.

Further information on our October lineup is inside.

Happy Writing

October Workshop

How to write for a Multicultural Reading audience

DR MANISHA AMIN

In the context of globalisation and the subsequent rise of multicultural societies, such as those of Australia and India, the act of writing has become increasingly more demanding. Writers have to keep in mind the idea of a multicultural readership without losing touch with their own cultural background. In this workshop, through the examples we create during our writing exercise, we shall examine the particular issues and problems of writing for multicultural audiences, and together, identify how to address them.

Manisha Jolie Amin was born in Kenya and moved to Australia with her family when she was five. Sydney is her home, although she travels frequently to both India and England to visit family. Manisha lives with her husband, son and cat. When not writing, she works for an inclusive design charity. In 2011 Manisha received a PhD from the University of Technology, Sydney. Dancing to the Flute is her first novel. She has since written a number of short stories and has run workshops, worked as a writing coach and supported the Nautanki Theatre.

Member Speaker

A Powerful Story of Our Times

SUSAN RAMAGE

Susan will share both the inspiration and the perspiration for her second book, The Urban Escapees which invites questions about urbanisation and its impact on nature and biodiversity: The lives and habitat of a possum family are threatened by urban creep. What will happen to them? Where will they go? An enchanting story of the relationship between a wildlife-loving boy and a brushtail possum family, The Urban Escapees is a powerful story of our times about increasing urbanisation and its impact on the natural world.

Keynote Speaker

The Shelf Life of Zora Cross

CATHY PERKINS EDITOR, SLNSW

Cathy Perkins is the author of an upcoming biography of Zora Cross, an Australian writer best-known for her 1917 poetry collection Songs of Love and Life. Cathy is an editor at the State Library of NSW, and came across her biography subject while working on an exhibition at the library. She has spent the past ten years researching the life of this fascinating Sydney and Blue Mountains-based writer. Cathy will speak about Zora Cross's encounters with famous literary figures in her early writing career, and her engaging interviews with women writers in the 1920s and 30s.

The Importance of Presenting: Point of View in Fiction

DR MEENAKSHI BHARAT

Who doesn't love a good story! But often, our immersion in the act of 'listening,' keeps us from actively registering 'who' is telling the story to us and from whose 'point of view' we are getting the story, partly because the author has skillfully and unobtrusively 'managed' to hide this. There are other times when the author willfully emphasises the 'narrative perspective.' In this workshop, recognising that the narrative point of view, hidden or overt, is one of the most important stylistic aspects to impact the dissemination and reception of fiction, we will turn our attention to the importance of the two basic questions: 'Who am I listening to when a story is narrated to me?' or 'Whose voice is directing the narrative?' As conscious creative writers, we need to take control of 'perspective' to maximise narrative impact, and to achieve the intended result. To mark the importance of this impulse, we will endeavour to appreciate, through individual and combined exercises, how and why these narratorial choices are made. Not only will this enhance the overall reading experience and the underlying creative process but it will set us on the path to writing with 'effect.'

Meenakshi Bharat is a writer, translator, reviewer and critic. She teaches in the University of Delhi and is especially interested in cultural, postcolonial and English studies, children's literature, women's fiction and film studies—areas which she has extensively researched and written about. Her publications include The Ultimate Colony (2003), Desert in Bloom (2004), Filming the Line of Control (2008), Rushdie the Novelist (2009), A House for Mr Biswas: Critical Perspectives (2012), four volumes of Indo-Australian stories entitled Glass Walls (2019), Fear Factor (2009), Alien Shores (2012) and Only Connect (2014), and a children's book, Little Elephant Throws a Party (2014). Troubled Testimonies: Terrorism and the English Novel in India, (2016). She is President of International Federation of Modern Languages and Literatures (FILLM, UNESCO) 2014-2017; Special Bureau Member, FILLM; Executive Member, Indian Association for the Study of Australia (IASA) 2016 onwards. Treasurer, 2012-2016; Bureau Member International Council of Philosophy and the Human Sciences (CIPSH, UNESCO); Life Member Association for British Scholars; Member Asia Pacific Writers and Translators.

Stories from Bondi

Short Stories

Libby Sommer

Stories from Bondi

Libby Sommer

Ginninderra Press

'Libby Sommer's sensitively-drawn characters live and breathe within the echoes of the everyday. Stories from Bondi centre on women—their joys, doubts, loves and realisations. The foibles of human nature, with all their pathos and humour, are laid bare for the reader. "From the opening story 'Art and the Mermaid', to a moving piece set in a health retreat that closes the collection, these stories beautifully capture the intimacies of women. Like My Year With Sammy and The Crystal Ballroom, this is classic Sommer." – Susanne Gervay OAM, author

'Tis the Doing Not the Deed'

Dr Susan Steggall

Shooting Star Press

Set in Haute-Savoie (France), this is a story about a 'doing' for noble reasons that results in a 'deed' that has repercussions across generations in several French-Australian families.

Mentoring for writing and editing

Carolyn Beaumont

A mentor is a supporter of writers but never a dictator.

With quiet encouragement and gentle suggestion, a mentor can assist a writer to complete a poem, short story, novel, play, family history or biography.

A mentor can assist with mental blocks. There are solutions.

A mentor can discuss characters, dialogues, plots, settings and themes.

A mentor can be a sounding wall for a writer to bounce off ideas, sentence structures, chapter sequences, legal and ethical issues.

The corporate or self-publishing processes require manuscripts to be thoroughly edited and then proofread at printing stage.

A mentor can offer an objective view of structural balance and a fresh eye on line (or copy) editing of the text.

A mentor can advise on communications between authors and publishers/printers and discuss changes that may be advised.

A mentor can guide an author through the proofreading stage to final publication. An effective mentor knows that the final decision must always be the author's decision.
